

Epic Arts Vision Statement

Epic Arts believes that every person counts and that everyone should be valued and seen as a creative individual with a voice. In the future, Epic Arts wishes to be at the forefront of inclusive arts in Cambodia and the South East Asian region as well as an important voice in the wider development of inclusive arts worldwide. Over the next 10 Years Epic Arts wants to achieve success in all areas of its work by focusing on four key goals;

- Spread the message that every person counts
- Be sustainable in all areas within the organisation
- Raise our profile as a leading international inclusive arts organisation
- Ensure high quality and best practice in all areas of our work

Epic Arts Mission Statement

Epic Arts uses the arts as a powerful tool for transformation that explores and celebrates the richness of diversity through creative experiences. We work with people of all abilities and backgrounds through our Inclusive Education, Community and Social Enterprise Programmes to encourage a change in perceptions and attitudes at both a personal, and public level. We promote the message that every person counts, every person is a unique and creative individual and every person is equal. We believe in integrity, understanding, acceptance, development, equality and the inclusion of all...and most of all we believe in people.

Epic Arts Faith Statement

Epic Arts holds the value that every person counts and should be accepted and treated equally at the core of its work. The organisation is founded on and continuously guided by the Christian faith but does not seek to proselytize or impose its religious beliefs on others. We respect the religious beliefs and practices in countries where we work. Our work is open to all people regardless of faith or personal beliefs, disability, ethnicity, intellect, gender, sexuality, nationality or background.

Epic Arts 10-Year Vision Summary

Over the next 10 Years Epic Art's want to.....

Spread the message that every person counts by using the arts as a powerful tool for change. Through our Inclusive Education, Community and Social Enterprise Programmes, we want to promote a more inclusive society for all by challenging perceptions of ability and possibility for all. We want the work that we do to become a blue print for how arts organisation can work inclusive and to enable all people to understand that every person is equal, unique, creative and valued

Be sustainable in all areas that we work by providing encouragement, opportunities, training and ways to generate our own funds through the work that we do. Through our programmes we will encourage financial, practical and personal sustainability to ensure that the impact of the work Epic Arts does is ongoing and that individuals and groups can gain confidence and self-belief through the development of relevant and transferable skills through the arts.

Raise our profile as a leading inclusive arts organisation that believes, proves and teaches that the arts are for all and that every person is a valued, creative individual. By establishing ourselves as an example for a more inclusive society, through the arts, education and social business, we want to encourage a more inclusive society in all the places we work.

Ensure High Quality in all that we do to enable all the people that interact with Epic Arts to experience the best quality inclusive arts practice possible, that encourages a change in attitudes for both individual who are affected by our work and the societies in which we are based. By showing high quality inclusive arts in action we aim to transform thinking and impact policy at a national and international level.
